DAN MOODY WILL SPEAK IN CAMERON AUGUST 25

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR WILL PLEAD WITH VOTERS IN RUN OFF PRIMARY

Dan Moody of Williamson county, candidate for governor, will speak at 8 o'clock Wednesday night August 25 on the court house lawn in Cameron, according to announcement of W. G. Gillis, county democratic chairman who is one of the leaders in the Moody campaign.

The speaking will be the second speech in Milam County for Mr. Moody. He spoke in Rockdale in the first primary.

Extensive preparations are being made by the Moody supporters to give the youthful attorney general a large crowd when he comes here next Wednesday. Mr. Moody led the ticket in the state coming only 1700 short of a majority but lost Milam County by nearly 1,000 votes.

The Herald has not been informed who will introduce Mr. Moody but T. S. Henderson, Sr., or Moulton Cobb, editor of the Cameron Enterprise, are mentioned.

The Moody forces held a rally in the court house Wednesday afternoon to make plans for the campaign in Milam County. They are going into every voting box in Milam County to appoint leaders and will make a desperate effort to carry Milam County for Mr. Moody.

J. D. LEWIS WILL PLAY AT WAYSIDE FRIDAY NIGHT

J. D. Lewis and his orchestra will play for the dance at Wayside Inn Friday night according to Mr. Cammer. The Lewis orchestra is very popular with the public and always draw a large crowd when they play at this popular resort.

Guy Draper's orchestra furnished the music for a most enjoyable dance on Tuesday evening.

If, Sir, you were to muster before me the murderer with blood-wet hands, the thief in possession of his loot, the highwayman armed with bludgeon and pistol, the firebug with his torch, the burglar with dark lantern and jimmy, and if you were to place with that assembly of rogues the wretch who had corrupted an election, I would unhesitatingly declare the corruptionist the blackest scoundrel of them all. I would say so because the man who attacks the foundations of his government and thereby assails the very structure of society is the greater criminal, the more intolerable villain, for his criminality poisons the soul of the nation.—Senator James A. Reed.

Alton "Shorty" Baggett made a business trip to the city of Belton on Sunday.

EDNA DUNHAM SUCCUMBS WHILE RIDING IN CAR

Edna Dunham, 18, died suddenly about 9:30 Wednesday night while riding in an automobile with Lester Williams.

The couple were riding along the street near the power plant arresting station on the Buckholts pike when Miss Dunham who had been talking suddenly ceased conversing. Realizing she was ill and seeing her gasp for breath the young man drove to the office of Dr. T. J. Denson but the girl died before reaching the drug store.

Dr. Denson could not revive her. He said death was caused by lesion of the heart. Miss Dunham had been known to suffer somewhat recently with her heart. She graduated from the Cameron high school in 1925 and had been a student at Trinity University this year. She suffered with her heart while at Trinity.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunham at Tracy. The body was taken to Tracy Wednesday night. Funeral services will be directed from the home by Green Brothers with burial in the Sharpe cemetery Friday.

Her death has caused profound sorrow among her many friends here. She was popular with her class in high school and during the days made many friends.

The Herald extends its sympathy to the bereaved parents.

In the meantime the two candidates for governor continued to delay announcement of their speaking engagements for the short period before election, it being understood that both are waiting for the other to announce so as to cover the same ground.

The Attorney general passed thru Dallas Monday afternoon en route to Greenville where he spoke at night, the second engagement since his rally gatherings in support of Moody have been announced, one of the largest being planned as an "All-Panhandle" meeting in Amarillo on Tuesday night week. ANALYSIS SHOWS MILK SUPPLY IS BLAMELESS

TEST MADE OF MILK FROM MILK IS PURE

Dr. Leland Denson, city sanitarian, has received from Baylor an analysis of milk sent from the Menefee dairy farm following the epidemic of illness in Cameron. This analysis declares the milk to be pure and not responsible for any of the illness.

The letter follows: "I have just completed bacteriological analysis of a sample of milk from the Menefee Dairy and which sample you brought to me this week. The sample, as I remember, was taken from the home of Mr. Clinton and was believed by some to have caused food poisoning of several members of Mr. Clinton's family.

"I have run bacteriological tests on this sample of milk for four days and find no bacteria of any kind whatsoever which cause poisoning. Food poisoning is due to five kinds of bacteria. Neither of these five kinds was present in the milk sample.

"I also fed as much of this milk to two young guinea pigs as they could consume. The guinea pigs showed no evidence of illness nor any diarrhoeal symptoms.

Very sincerely yours,
W. A. Buice,
Prof. of Bacteriology & Public Health, Baylor University.

23 CARS OF WHEAT AND OIL BURNED NEAR HEIDENHEIMER

Twenty-three cars of wheat and oil were destroyed by fire about midnight Sunday night when several cars of a southbound Santa Fe freight train derailed south of Heidenheimer and caught fire.

The train was broken up and several cars were saved from the flames by pulling them away to safety in time. Eight cars of grain and 15 cars of oil were lost. Several of the cars were completely wrecked by the hot fire and practically all of the contents were destroyed. All trains were still being detoured over the Katy to Taylor and over the I. & G. N. Railroad from there to Milano Monday because the wreckage was so hot that it could not be touched by the wreckers. The steel wreckage was heated to an intense heat and was slow in cooling off.

No estimate of the damage was available Monday.

Mrs. Mattie Morton stopped in Cameron for a few days last week on her way back to Dallas from a vacation trip along the Gulf coast. While here she visited in the home of Judge and Mrs. Ed. F. English; Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Sapp and Mrs. Cora Cammer. Mrs. Morton resided in Cameron some 30 years ago and reared a family here. She has many friends here who will welcome her return here at some future time to visit longer.

TWO DAY CELEBRATION AUGUST 21 AND 22

JOHN STASA, LOCAL PRESIDENT GIVES PLANS FOR MEETING IN BELL COUNTY

John Stasa, president of the Buckholts Sokol Union, was in Cameron Monday to announce a two-day celebration by the Sokol Unions of Texas and Oklahoma on August 21 and 22 at Seaton in Bell County.

W. G. Gillis of Cameron will deliver the principal address. The statement by L. O. Hosek, chairman of the division, is as follows:

The Southern Division of our "American Athletic Sokol Union" embracing Texas and Oklahoma, will hold its state meet this year at Seaton, Texas, (close to Temple), on the 21st and 22nd of August. The "Locals" of Ennis, Fort Worth, Houston, Crosby, Seaton, Penelope, East Bernard, Galveston, Dallas, Guy and Waco will be represented with teams and their instructors. Oklahoma will have delegations from Oklahoma City, Prague, Kingfisher, Yukon and Waukomis. Besides the ones taking part in the athletic drills, scores of visitors will come from these places and all over the states of Texas and Oklahoma.

Both men and women will compete in all events, prescribed by the Athletic board of the Southern division under the direction of J. F. Kucera and Prof. J. Havranek.

The afternoon of the 22nd will be devoted to presenting to the public an exhibition of our athletic work and general calisthenic drills of all of our classes.

Boys and girls will also appear in their drills and plays and as many prominent people will make short addresses we are glad to proclaim our program well balanced and a general good time is promised to everyone who will come out.

The "Sokol" (Falcon) movement transplanted to the new home of these American citizens of Czechoslovak origin has besides physical development of its members, always followed the educational program outlined by its founders far back in 1850.

Love of freedom was a natural instinct among our oppressed people and our constant desire is to become an independent nation, gave origin to the idea that a small group must first be physically and mentally strong to successfully present a solid front to the enemy in time of need.

This idea deeply planted in the hearts of its followers our movement was well taken and has gained friends and followers daily. Today the Sokol Union has nearly 700,000 members all over the world.

The Sokol Union has repeatedly proved in times of peace and war that our ideas, the plan of organization, our discipline has been a success and beneficial to its members as well as the whole nation.

The preparedness of our membership has given our mother country its freedom and then the discipline of our masses have been able to uphold love and order in time when all Central Europe was in chaotic state.

In this new home of ours where love of freedom should reign supreme and preparedness should be our watchword the Sokol Union also has a place and we are endeavoring by constant improvements of our methods, keeping physically fit also through educational propaganda to prepare our members to become better citizens and an important factor in the upholding of the ideals of this Republic—our new chosen home.

"Na adar" (Success with us)

L. O. HOSEK,
Chairman of the Southern Division,
Dallas, Texas.

WRITER CONFERENCE HAS REAL PROGRAM

ORGANIZED 5 YEARS AGO, IS DOING GREAT WORK FOR BETTER AGRICULTURE

The Agricultural Writers' Conference was organized at the meeting of the Short Course five years ago. The first president was Phoebe K. Warner the "Little Brown Wren" of the Panhandle. Mrs. Warner is a writer of note and an internationally known figure in Community Club work. Her writings appear in most of the Texas dailies and for some time she was regularly on the editorial staff of the Fort Worth Record. She lives at Claude, Texas, and is a power in women's club life in that section. She is the head of the movement for county unity of club work and the Writers' Conference by special resolution, at this session, endorsed her plan and will assist in putting it over.

Marsh Holland of Holland's Magazine and Farm and Ranch was the next president of the Writers' Conference. He is a son of Frank P. Holland, owner and founder of these great publications and was at that time, field editor of Farm and Ranch.

Henry Edwards, editor and proprietor of the Tyler Journal and Troupe Banner, was the next president of the organization. His publications rank at the top of the list in their field. The Tyler Journal when only a few months old, was judged the best country weekly in Texas in a contest conducted by the Writers' Conference at College last year. This year at the meeting of the Texas Press Association at San Antonio, the Troupe Banner won the Belo cup as the best local weekly paper in Texas. Mr. Edwards is doing a great work in Smith county and is largely responsible for the "Ten Year Better Farming Program" now being carried forward in that county.

J. C. Wells of Memphis, Texas, was the next to head this organization. He is editor and owner of the Memphis Democrat and half owner of the Wellington Leader. He is known throughout West Texas as an interesting writer and a newspaperman of ability. He is a forceful speaker and made a good presiding officer.

This organization is committed to the advancing of the work of the A. & M. College Extension Department and is solidly behind the Boys and Girls' club work and everything tending to the betterment of agriculture in Texas.

Among the members of the organization who have been active in its work are some of the best-known writers of Texas, including T. C. Richardson of Farm and Ranch; Victor Schoffelmayer and Mrs. J. W. Baird of Dallas News and Semi-Weekly Farm News and Eugene Butler of Progressive Farmer.

At the session just closed, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: W. M. Cobb of the Cameron Enterprise, president; Ray M. Camp, vice president; Henry Edwards of Tyler Journal, secretary.

A. D. Jackson, chief of publications at A. & M. College, conceived the idea of forming this organization and its success has been largely due to his executive ability and untiring energy. Mr. Jackson is one of the most popular members of the College's efficient corps of department heads and having been a country editor in his youth he finds much pleasure in the sessions of the conference as well as interest in its achievements.

The newly elected president of the Agricultural Writers' Conference, Editor W. M. Cobb of the Cameron Enterprise is a journalist of experience. He was owner and editor of the Smithville Times and Enterprise after their combination twelve years. He had been in newspaper work there twenty years before coming to Cameron. In 1900 he was appointed to an office in the State Senate but since coming to Cameron has devoted himself entirely to newspaper work and his paper ranks as one of the best weeklies in the state. Mr. Cobb is well-known among members of the newspaper fraternity and is always ready to foster any worthy cause with his able and trenchant pen. He is a leader in community service and is one of the most influential citizens in this section of Texas.

Moulton Cobb had court business in Houston this week.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HOUSEHOLD BUDGETS

"Aunt Emmy," asked Helen, "won't you explain what is meant by a household budget? You said something the other day about budgets, but I don't seem clear in my mind about it."

"A budget is simply a plan," said Aunt Emmy. "You plan what you are going to do with your income. You divide your income systematically so that you can meet your needs. You lay aside a part of your income for rent, other parts for food, clothing, heat, light, telephone, recreation, savings and so on."

"How are you going to know how much you should spend for each thing—on rent for instance, Auntie?" asked Helen.

"Experts have studied the question carefully and have worked out budgets to suit every income. Of course, you can alter these typical budgets slightly to suit your particular needs. For example, the average budget that covers incomes of from $2,000 to $10,000 a year divides your income into six parts. Ten per cent for savings, twenty per cent for rent, twenty per cent for food, twenty per cent for what is called betterment and includes education, amusement, entertainment, books, music, sports; fifteen per cent for clothes and fifteen per cent for operating expenses."

"No matter how you change the other items you must not change the savings allowance—except to increase it. A great majority of men who reach sixty are dependent on relatives or charity. If they had saved only ten cents out of every dollar, they would not have been in that plight. There is nothing like money in the savings bank to help you through the emergencies that come in everybody's life. If everybody kept one year's income in the savings bank, much misery would be averted. If you always have enough money to see you through one year, you are pretty safe. Beyond that, it is wise to let your money accumulate until you have enough to buy some good securities. Your banker will advise you about the securities that suit your needs."

"But, Aunt Emmy, suppose you wanted to alter your budget?" inquired Helen. "How would you know how to do it? A young married couple might start on a certain budget and then, when they had children to feed and educate, they might want to change it."

"Well, my dear, if they were in doubt about their financial affairs, they could always consult their banker. That is why it is so good to establish friendly relations with a bank when you start out in life. Any banker will be glad to advise young people about making their money go farther."

—A. B. Aymes.

WHAT THE FEDERAL RESERVE HAS DONE FOR BUSINESS

What the Federal Reserve System has done for business is summed up in these points: It has (1) given business greater confidence in the ability of the banks to care for credit needs; (2) introduced an elastic currency and eliminated money panics; (3) eliminated extreme seasonal fluctuations in rates of interest; (4) brought business safely through the war and post-war crises; (5) saved millions of dollars to business through its efficient system for check collection; (6) made the gold reserve more effective as a basis for credit extension in times of extraordinary demand; (7) aided in the financing of foreign and domestic trade by developing a discount market for acceptances; (8) provided a means for handling huge financial operations of the government without interference with business; (9) aided in the re-establishment of the gold standard abroad; (10) given us an experienced banking organization which will assist us in meeting the future exigencies of business at home and abroad with courage and confidence.

FARMERS IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY MEETS HERE

COLORED CITIZENS HOLD TWO DAY CELEBRATION IN CAMERON—HEAR TALKS

The annual summer encampment of the Colored Farmers Improvement Society of Milam County for the year 1926 is now history.

The recent session which was held in the beautiful spot of ground purchased by the colored F. I. S. of Milam county easily capped the climax of previous years. The alarm was heard and the call for an assembling of farmers was made by county president, George W. Sledge. In response to the invitation, we are pleased to say that representatives came from the various portions of the county to participate in the meeting and profit from the valuable information and wholesome advice that was broadcast by speakers of honor and repute.

Among the speaker of our own race who helped in making the affair glorious were Prof. J. H. Williams, the colored extension agent of Milam County; Mrs. R. L. Smith of Waco, preceptress of the Juveniles and R. L. Smith of Waco, grand president of the colored F. I. S. of Texas. These enthusiastic race leaders were tireless in their efforts as they advocated the ideas of "A Better Class of Farming," and also "Economy in the Home."

The cream of the occasion was realized when we were favored with an able address from J. B. White, former mayor of the city of Cameron. His address was sound and logical, overflowing with wholesome advice to the colored people of Milam County. We feel ourselves indebted to Mr. White for his interest in our race.

We also appreciate the kindness of Mr. Keith of the Deleo Light Company who gratuitously spread the rays of light upon the ground. We appreciate also the efforts of our many friends who assisted us in raising in the neighborhood of two hundred and fifty dollars which will be used for the promotion of our F. I. S. College at Ladonia, Texas. We are highly encouraged by the support of our many friends to pursue this work with Spartan zeal, knowing that "God helps those who help themselves."

BILIOUS SPELLS

Kentucky Man Finds Relief from Dizzy Attacks.

"I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month," says Mr. J. P. Nevins, of Lawrenceburg, Ky. "I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated. A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything. It seemed to cleanse my whole system and made me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of 'pep' and could do twice the work."

Made from pure, medicinal roots and herbs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for such symptoms as the above, when due to a torpid liver.

23 CARS OF WHEAT AND OIL BURNED NEAR HEIDENHEIMER

Twenty-three cars of wheat and oil were destroyed by fire about midnight Sunday night when several cars of a southbound Santa Fe freight train derailed south of Heidenheimer and caught afire.

The train was broken up and several cars were saved from the flames by pulling them away to safety in time. Eight cars of grain and 15 cars of oil were lost. Several of the cars were completely wrecked by the hot fire and practically all of the contents were destroyed. All trains were still being detoured over the Katy to Taylor and over the I. & G. N. Railroad from there to Milano Monday because the wreckage was so hot that it could not be touched by the wreckers. The steel wreckage was heated to an intense heat and was slow in cooling off.

No estimate of the damage was available Monday.

Mrs. Mattie Morton stopped in Cameron for a few days last week on her way back to Dallas from a vacation trip along the Gulf coast. While here she visited in the home of Judge and Mrs. Ed. F. English; Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Sapp and Mrs. Cora Cammer. Mrs. Morton resided in Cameron some 30 years ago and reared a family here. She has many friends here who will welcome her return here at some future time to visit longer.

EDITH WILMANS BACKS
"MA" IN RUN-OFF RACE

Wills, Tex. Aug. 17.—Mrs. Edith Wilmans, gubernatorial aspirant in the first democratic primary, Monday placed her support behind Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in the impending contest with Dan Moody on Aug. 28.

On Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Adelphi Hotel, she presided at a meeting of Dallas county democratic women "to protest against the character of campaign being conducted against Gov. Ferguson and to adopt resolutions indorsing her administration."

In the meantime the two candidates for governor continued to delay announcement of their speaking engagements for the short period before election, it being understood that both are waiting for the other to announce so as to cover the same ground.

The Attorney general passed thru Dallas Monday afternoon en route to Greenville where he spoke at night, the second engagement since his rally gatherings in support of Moody have been announced, one of the largest being planned as an "All-Panhandle" meeting in Amarillo on Tuesday night week. This was announced by Col. Alvin Owsley Monday on receipt of messages from Amarillo. He will speak this week for Moody at Austin, Houston and Galveston. Former Gov. O. B. Colquitt will address a gathering at Huntsville Friday night.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR HAD BY BAPTISTS

Convention at Houston Heard Many Gratifying Reports on Work. Evolution Denounced.

$9,000,000 GOAL IS SET

This Objective for Missions and Benevolences to Be Sought By Co-operative Program Commission for 1927.

Following an unusually good record in the work of the local churches and large achievements on the mission fields, there has just been held at Houston, Texas, one of the most successful sessions of the Southern Baptist Convention in recent years. The session was marked by unusual unity, definiteness of purpose and determination to carry forward the work of the Co-operative Program.

DR. GEO. W. MCDANIEL
President Southern Baptist Convention.

Following the re-election of Dr. George W. McDaniel, Richmond, Va., as president, he sounded in his inaugural address a conviction on the theory of evolution that was promptly and unanimously adopted by the Convention as its own sentiment. Dr. McDaniel said:

"I am happy to believe that this Convention accepts Genesis as teaching that man was the special creation of God and rejects every theory, evolution or other, which teaches that man originated in, or came by way of, a lower animal ancestry."

With the evolution question disposed of, the Convention was able to proceed with a consideration of its great missionary and benevolent enterprises.

Here are some of the outstanding developments of the Convention:

GOAL OF $9,000,000 SET UP

1. In the hope of enabling the mission boards and other agencies of the Convention to take care of their indebtedness gradually without having to too greatly curtail their present work, an objective of $9,000,000 for missions, education and benevolences was set up for 1927, on recommendation of the Co-operative Program Commission. This money will be applied to foreign, home and state missions, Baptist schools, orphanages and hospitals and ministerial relief, thus taking care of both the state and Southwide Baptist work. It is hoped the Southwide portion of the budget will amount to at least $4,000,000.

2. An effort will be made to enlist 500,000 tithers during the next year.

3. The Foreign Mission Board reported 13,269 baptisms on its fields during the year, a gain of about 1,000 over the previous year. The board has 1,215 churches on the foreign fields with 140,488 members, 3,247 out-stations where preaching services are held from time to time, and 528 missionaries and 2,644 native Christian workers employed in 17 countries.

4. Among the results for the year reported by the Home Mission Board were 833 missionaries employed, 19,744 baptisms, 35,226 additions to the churches, 100 new churches and 458 Sunday schools organized, and 402 church houses built or improved.

DENOMINATION GREW DURING YEAR

5. The Sunday School Board reported total business receipts for the year of $1,710,471. Of this amount $380,344 was put back into the general work of the denomination. A total of 89,038 awards in teacher training were made, 403 churches were aided by the Architectural Department in drawing plans for new houses of worship, the number of standard Sunday schools reached 546.

With the gains for the past year the main figures of the denomination are now given by the statistical secretary of the Convention as follows: 28,467 churches, 19,908 ordained ministers, 3,649,330 church members, 21,760 Sunday schools with 2,681,828 pupils, 20,965 church houses, 3,197 pastors' homes, $162,909,278 invested in local church property $30,771,574 contributed to local church objects, $3,255,435 to missions and benevolences and $39,027,099 to all purposes during the past year.

The time is now ripe for a distinct Baptist advance all along the line and especially in a support of the great missionary and benevolent enterprises fostered by the Co-operative Program, the Convention leaders believe.

DOVE SEASON OPENS SEPT. 1

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 17.—Mourning doves will have reason to mourn in a fortnight. And prairie chickens will have reason to hunt cover. Wood and vale in Northern Texas will be stalked by men and boys when the fall hunting season opens, with doves and prairie chickens first on the game list.

The meaty little doves are favored by many hunters, by some for the flavor, and by others for the sport of shooting. Doves are not the easiest target in the world for even crack wing shots. And there's nothing quite so fast on the wing as a prairie chicken.

In the northern zone of Texas, the open season on mourning doves is September and October. In the southern zone the open season is November and December.

The theoretical line between the northern and southern zones is drawn along the I.-G.-N. railway and T. & P. railway from Laredo to San Antonio, to Austin, to Longview and Texarkana. Prairie chicken may be taken from September 1 to 10 in either the north or south zones.

A single hunter may take not more than fifteen doves in any one day, and not more than forty-five in a week, under the Texas game laws. The limit on prairie chickens is five in one day or ten during the season season.

"It might be well for hunters to know that this restriction applies to one man with one gun," said Will R. Wilson, prominent sportsman. "I have known hunters who were good shots to fill the bag of a less fortunate companion, which is not lawful. It is not only unlawful for a man to kill more than the bag limit for himself, but if it is not sportsmanship to evade the law in any manner."

DRY GOODS, MILLINERY, READY-TO-WEAR

CAMERON, TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, August 14.—James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, was indicted here today as the author of "political perfidy" by Attorney General Dan Moody, delivering the first speech of his run-off campaign before an audience at Fair Park.

Moody hurled at the Governor's husband strong phrases in reply to the statement of last Tuesday in which the governor announced that she was in the race with all her heart. He said this statement was Ferguson's and called it "political claptrap," declaring that the former governor, speaking in the non de plume of his wife, had sought to divert the issue "from his perfidy."

The words that Ferguson himself is purported to have used in reference to the celebrated challenge from the governor to Moody were turned back at Ferguson when the attorney general quoted statements indicating that the governor was acting on the assumption that Moody had accepted the challenge.

Moody dealt with the klan issue, the challenge, the gasoline tax, and school taxes, and declared that the issue was still "Fergusonism." He declared that the statement from the governor announcing her intention to stay in the race completes the record of "Fergusonism" and sustains the charges that Fergusonism means "promises not performed and never intended to be performed."

"The issue of this run-off campaign is the same as the issue in the preceding primary," said Moody. "It is Fergusonism. One promise more or less made and violated cannot change the issue before the people of Texas. Ferguson has sought in his latest statement to change the issue and divert the public mind from his perfidy."

"In his latest statement he seeks to justify his change of front by asserting that I took an interest in the election of a senator from this senatorial district to the state senate. He would like to make of that a campaign issue. Like many of his political utterances, this is pure fabrication, because I took no interest in that contest and I did not express in either public or private any preference between the men." Moody referred to the race between Thomas B. Love and Senator John Davis, defeated candidate for re-election. Ferguson charged that Love was one of the "Butte republican bolters," who voted for the republican candidate for governor in the last election.

He handled the Ku Klux Klan matter in these words:

"Ferguson attempts to renew the klan question in the hope that he might repeat the history of 1924, and by engendering bitter prejudice and hatred further foist himself upon the people of Texas. He would inveigle me into a discussion of that question by making unsupported charges which have as their purpose the creation of an impression upon the public mind which he knows to be false."

"His representations with reference to this matter are without foundation in fact and are but a phantom which he chases in the hope that he may gain a political profit. Men whom he represents to have supported in the last primary, actively opposed me and sought to prevent my nomination. But the truth has never been an obstacle in Mr. Ferguson's way in his political utterances."

"Mr. Ferguson knows that I have no understanding with the klan; he knows I wrote the anti-mask bill at his request and am not in favor of its repeal and knows that if elected governor I will be dictated to by no one but will at all times consult only the welfare of the state in determining the course of my official conduct. His representations with reference to these matters are made in the attempt to again practice deception upon the state of Texas."

BEE MEN WARNED ON COTTON POISON

DANGER OF BEES BEING KILLED AND HONEY CROP IS ALSO THREATENED

Local bee men have received letters of warning from the state apiarist at San Antonio to safeguard their apiaries by withdrawing all honey from them at once.

He also urged that the bee keepers watch carefully the effect of the honey deposited in the next few weeks by the bees while poisoning is going on in the cotton fields of the country.

The letter states that in Oregon from one dusting of the fruit trees, the same poison being used as is being used in the cotton fields, there were $50,000 worth of honey bees killed. There is also danger of enough poison getting into the honey stored from the poisoned fields to endanger human life and for that reason every precaution should be taken to see that the honey is not dangerous for public use and also dangerous to the lives of the bees.

The cotton fields are the Chief source of supply for the honey bees in this section.—Temple Telegram.

FERGUSON WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN AT TEMPLE

"OPEN SERVICES IN OLD HOME TOWN SATURDAY NIGHT"
SAYS JIM

Austin, Tex., Aug. 16.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson and Former Governor James E. Ferguson will go home to Temple to open the campaign Saturday for run-off democratic primary election August 28. The former governor made this announcement Monday.

"Yes, I'll open services in the old home town Saturday night at 8 o'clock," he said. "I expect to speak at Galveston, but my itinerary is not yet complete."

Mr. Ferguson said he expected to conduct a brisk campaign during the last week.

The Ferguson rally here Saturday night will be held in the City Park, it was said Monday by friends of the governor, who have reserved the park for the speaking. James E. Ferguson did not speak in Temple during the first primary, although both Moody and Davidson spoke here. Preparations will be made to take care of a large crowd Saturday night, it was said.—Temple Telegram.

Jack Moore was sentenced to 15 years in prison Tuesday by a jury in district court for the murder of Mann Davis on May 18, 1925. He entered a plea of guilty after six witnesses had been placed on the stand. He entered a plea of not guilty at the beginning of the trial. He was convicted in July 1925 and given 50 years. The case was reversed because of error in the charge to the jury. The state was represented by A. J. Lewis and E. A. Camp and defendant was represented by O. D. Graham, Thorndale; Wood and Wood, Granger and Judge Taulbee of Georgetown.

Farmers Urged to Watch Fields and Poison When Bugs Become Abundant

By Victor H. Schoffelmeyer
It now begins to look like the cotton leafworm will be the next most serious cotton pest to threaten Texas.

It is reported in considerable strength from Central and South Texas counties and recently it has appeared in the black land belt of North Texas and in East Texas also.

The boll weevil also is being reported from a number of Texas counties, although not in numbers sufficient to do much damage just now, but continued rains will increase the hazard of raising cotton profitably, for rains and humidity mean rapid increase of insects.

There is one consolation in the fact that the same poisons which control the boll weevil also control the bollworm and the leafworm, all these being chewing insects which masticate the cotton tissues and thus consume the poison with their food. The bollworms, after hatching, wander over the cotton plants and can then be poisoned.

Calcium arsenate is the standard arsenical poison for these pests. Especially has it been found successful in the control of the boll weevil. But it is necessary to apply the poison properly. A lot of money is wasted annually because of improper application, at the wrong time and in the wrong manner.

The Government formula for boll weevil control has not been changed in years and it is best to follow the following instructions:

Five to seven pounds of calcium arsenate per acre.

Apply with either hand dustgun or horse-drawn machine or saddle dustgun.

Apply only when you are assured there are at least 1 per cent infested squares.

Apply the calcium arsenate when there is dew on the cotton and when the air is calm, preferably early mornings or late at evening.

Three applications four days apart should give prompt control.

Then stop poisoning and wait till the weevils again become fairly abundant.

Usually the weevils start their work in fields close to the woods or brush, where they have wintered. The rows nearest to these hibernating places are apt to show the first infestation and a farmer can save himself much work and trouble if he watches these areas and starts his dusting there, keeping the weevils from spreading to other parts of his field.

Many farmers believe that leafworms are of benefit to them in eating the leaves off the cotton and enabling the sunlight to shine into the middle of the cotton plants and hasten the ripening of the bolls. This is true enough in a year which is at least normal as to fruiting of cotton, but this season, with the cotton from thirty to forty days late and with the young bolls and tender squares just now forming, the leafworms will destroy these as fast as they will put on if the pest is not checked.

R. R. Reppert, extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, says calcium arsenate is the best poison to use considering its cheapness and effectiveness in controlling the leafworm. This may be dusted on by the pole and bag method but preferably by means of some type of dusting machine. Best results are obtained if dusting is done while the dew is on the plants so the poison may adhere, but usually enough adheres to the plants even when applied during the heat of the day or in the dry climate, to make it highly effective. Use from three to six pounds per acre, according to the size of the plant. The same application for the leafworm will be effective against the weevil.

Paris Green and lead arsenate in the past have been most commonly used, although calcium arsenate is now effective and cheaper. Any of these poisons are most conveniently applied in dust form. Dusting machinery is the best means of application of course, but if this is not available, the old pole and bag method can be used. In application with Paris green, it will be well to add at least an equal part of lime, to reduce the danger of injuring the foliage.

Spraying may be resorted to, but is usually considered too expensive. In spraying, the same arsenals as named above should be used, in the proportion of one pound of Paris green, or from one and a half to two pounds of either lead arsenate or calcium arsenate, to fifty gallons of water. In the use of Paris green it will be safest to slake an equal amount of quick lime and add the milk of lime thus obtained, after straining through a coarse cloth, to the spray liquid.

It will not be safe to use white arsenate, or a mixture of white arsenate with soda compounds, or stock dip. These are all more or less soluble in water and will burn the foliage.

It is hardly practical to burn lights in the cotton fields to destroy the moths.

The worm itself needs little description. The color is rather variable, ranging through the light shades of green to almost black. There are black stripes, faintly marked at the beginning of the season, becoming more conspicuous in the later broods.

A description of the adult moth is important since recognition of its presence will be of aid in foreseeing an early infestation by the worm. The moth, flying mostly by night and remaining hidden in the daytime except when disturbed by one walking through the cotton or in weedy patches near the cotton, darts from its hiding place and flies with quick zig zag course for a short distance, when it quickly seeks shelter again under foliage. It is difficult to get sight of one at rest in order to determine its markings, but when this is possible, the moth appears as having a wing expanse of about an inch and a quarter. The color of the wings is a tawny yellow, and a dark spot about midway of the forewings furnishes another characteristic of the adult of the cotton leaf worm.

Since our winters are too severe for the insect, all stages perishing during the winter, infestation each year progresses from areas in Mexico. A generation may become mature in less than a month's time, and with each successive generation, infestation extends further northward. With strong south winds the moths, naturally strong flyers, are aided in distribution, and may be carried for hundreds of miles. Thus it spreads rapidly when conditions are favorable but since it is impossible to predict when these conditions will be present, the coming of the insect to any particular section cannot be predicted with precision.

The corn earworm or the bollworm of cotton is due any time now, in parts of Texas. Usually the moths leave the cornfields after the corn is made and lay their eggs in cotton fields or elsewhere. These can only be poisoned in the short period while the young worms wander about the cotton plants until they penetrate the bolls. Once grown they may be found halfway buried in a boll with no chance to poison them.

Mrs. Giles Avriett and Miss Myrtle Avriett went to Waco Friday.

in the country today is found in the women's clubs, which are organized in thousands of communities. Themajority of them are the development of the past generation, and before that time the women had commonly the feeling that they would better stay at home and attend to household duties, rather than spend their time writing papers and listening to addresses.The originator of this very remarkable movement, which has had much to do with altering the position of women in the community, it is said to have been Miss Faunt Le Roy, granddaughter of Robert Owen, well known philanthropist. She returned from six years study and travel in Europe, to the little town of New Harmony, Indiana, and felt a desire for interesting society.So the first of these associations, called the Minerva club, was formed 67 years ago in that town, and named after the Roman goddess of wisdom, and the club dedicated itself to literature, music and the social graces.
Such clubs have done wonders for innumerable small towns, and have made them centers of agreeable society.As years go on, these clubs have not been satisfied just with cultural study and social graces, but have taken an active part in community affairs. Today they are a force for promoting civic movements. The politicians are fearful of taking positions that the women's clubs generally oppose.Countless women have found, when they banded themselves together in this way, that there was more talent in their communities and social circles than they had imagined.
It would often be discovered that many quiet people who have never had an opportunity to express themselves, had unusual gifts, and couldcontribute much to the entertainment and instruction and progress of their group of people.THE MIGRATING TENDENCYVice President Dawes, in addressing a few days ago the 50th anniversary celebration for Colorado's statehood, remarked on the tendency to emigrate, and of the drift of population from east to west. He brought out the idea how people of an active disposition tend to leave the places where they were brought up and go elsewhere, and the contended tend to stay on in the same places where they were born.That tendency has been strongly marked in past years, and it has made the desert blossom, and it has built up a wonderful civilization in regions which a century ago were wilderness. But the taking up of the wild land in the country has changed that tendency.During recent years the migrating tendency has shown itself more in a drift from country towns into large cities. But that has been carried to such a great extent, and the larger cities have become so over populated, that it is very doubtful if that can continue much longer. At least a great many people who have gone to big cities are not doing as well there as they were in the smaller places.But it is still true, that any city or town that is progressive and ambitious can draw population, and the migrating tendency which 50 and 100 years ago took people out of the east to the west, will continue to operate in favor of any city, state or locality which shows modern spirit and enterprise and courage.The migrating spirit will never disappear, and those communities that are content to rest on their past will continue to lose their most hopeful and ambitious folks, while those that show determination and will to win, will pull ahead in the race, and build better futures for themselves. Let us encourage people to migrate to Cameron, rather than from it.ROADS TO BE BUILT.The American people for the past 25 years have done what in some ways is the biggest job of construction ever accomplished in the world in the construction of their roads. It has been a task which was never imagined at the beginning of this country, when automobiles were just beginning to become common.We now have paved or surfaced 500,000 miles of highways, a distance sufficient to go 20 times around the globe. And in addition we have graded and drained 250,000 more miles. It has been a stupendous task.And yet it is only a fraction of the work to be done, as there are 3,000,- 000 miles of highway in the country.
At the present rate about 40,000 miles are surfaced each year, and about 15,000 more graded and drained. And all the time the roads previously built are wearing out and have to be reconstructed.Of course many of those 3,000,000 miles of road are little country ways not much used. And yet all of them were opened for a purpose to accommodate certain localities, and most of them are as much needed now as they ever were.Probably it will take 25 to 50 years more before we have all the hard roads that the country should have,
and when that time comes, a lot of rebuilding of the older roads ought to be done.A road that is fine to drive on for a few years, but soon goes to pieces, is a poor investment. We must build for permanent results, and the roads of that character will be the cheapest in the long run. The cities must help the country districts improve their highways, and many rural neighborhoods are wasting more through bad roads than it would cost them to borrow the money and provide themselves with decent transportation facilities.BRING HOME SOME IDEAS.The many folks of Cameron who are away on vacations, or who are going a little later, should bring home ideas useful to themselves and the community.If wide-awake folks see people prospering in a business or trade, the question comes up in their mind how they attained that prosperity, and they look into it a little to see if they can not discover ideas helpful to themselves.Also when people see a community that shows evidence of fine growth, they will naturally inquire into reasons for such growth. They will feel it did not happen by any chance, but there were underlying causes. They would like to know those causes.
They will inquire what was the spirit of those people, what advantages they established that made these communities more attractive. Ourpeople would like to have them bring back those ideas, and tell us how our own home town can likewise gain more modern advantages.REPRESENTING HOME FOLKS.A traveller or tourist is the representative of his home locality. If he is courteous and friendly on his journeys, if he discusses affairs intelligently with chance acquaintances, if he shows concern for the goodcauses of the country, the people whom he meets say that he is a fine representative of his community, and if his home folks are like him, they must be a fine set of people.Thus the citizen of Cameron has a chance to do missionary work for his home state and city. The impression we have of distant states is largely created by visitors who come here, and the impression we give elsewhere is largely created by our travellers.S. P. CROSSInsurance and Farm

Tombs of the Czars Are Opened

Russian Soviet Reveals the Secrets of the Graves of Muscovite Rulers

Accounts of the opening of the tombs of Russian rulers by a special Soviet Commission have been sent to Germany by way of Helsingfors. Signed by Arthur Knupffer, a German journalist, these reports are said to have been corroborated by several Russian eyewitnesses. They assert that the coffin of Czar Alexander I was discovered to be utterly empty. Descriptions of the condition, robes, and jewels found on the bodies of Peter the Great are somewhat circumstantial. It is related that Catherine's burial jewels have been transferred to the State Treasury.

The Bolsheviks, not content with opening the diplomatic archives of the Czarist government after they had seized the reins of power, resolved to open a number of Czarist tombs in the church attached to the Fortress of St. Peter and Paul in Leningrad. In the crypts of this church all the Russian rulers who came after Peter the Great lie sepulchred. One of the first tombs to be opened was that of Czar Alexander I.

The legend attached to the death of Alexander I is well known throughout Russia. The first part of the legend declares that Alexander did not die at Taganrog in Southern Russia on December 1, 1825, and that the coffin transferred to St. Petersburg contained the body of some unknown and unimportant person. Mr. Knupffer expresses the opinion that there may be some truth in this part of the story. For it is conceivable that for some reason or other the body of the Emperor never reached St. Petersburg.

The second part of the legend runs as follows: Alexander I had dwelt for a long time in a remote monastery and then at the close of his life had wandered throughout Russia as a pilgrim monk. This aged pilgrim, under the name of Fiodor Kusmitsch, existed and his personality has been historically attested. It may be true that this man was invested by a certain mystery—for Russia contains many such strange Dostoevski types, but there is nothing to prove that he had once been a member of the ruling class. The legend that he was Alexander I arose very likely because of Alexander's character and by reason of his sudden unlikely and unnatural to many people.

The opening of the sarcophagus of Alexander I was therefore looked forward to with intense curiosity—for now the mystery would at least be cleared up. But when the coffin was opened it was found to be completely empty. And so the mystery is greater than ever, for where was the body of this Czar buried upon his death a hundred years ago?

As to the Fiodor Kusmitsch legend, even Schilder, perhaps the best known historical writer and authority upon the life and times of Alexander I, declares that it has a grain of truth. Thus the legend is fated to live on, and there can be no doubt that it has now been given additional substance by the matter-of-fact report of a Soviet commission staring into a empty coffin.

Catherine's Casket

The opening of the tombs of Peter the Great and Catherine the Great has been described, Mr. Knupffer writes, by an eyewitness who accompanied the Bolshevik commission. The news that the ancient graves were to be opened by it had somehow spread, and the eyewitness said—there was a small group of curious folk standing in front of the massive portals of the fortress. An old woman cried out to the commission.

"You had better beware, boys;

Catherine won't stand any monkey-shines."

The underground vaults that contained the sarcophagi of the Czars were lighted only by a few candles and lanterns, as the electric lighting system was out of order. Many ikons in metal frames hung upon the walls and stared from the corners. The frames had been robbed of the precious stones they had once contained. The plain, bare sarcophagi of the dead rulers of Russia, male and female, stood there in a long and awe-inspiring row. Soon blows from hammers upon chisels that bit into metal thundered through the crypt, and the incense vessels hanging from the groins of the arches shook and tinkled.

A number of workmen were occupied with one of the sarcophagi when one of the officials called out: "Keep your eyes open—you will soon have a look at Catherine the Great." The men worked feverishly with hammers, chisels and with an oxygen flame.

After an hour's toil the massive cover was loosened and lifted off. A coffin of yellow wood, decorated with fittings of massive silver, came to light. There was an ivory crucifix lying upon the cover of this wooden coffin, and also a scroll of parchment tied together with a blue silk ribbon and with dangling seals of red wax.

The workmen proceeded to open the wooden coffin and after some minutes the body of that unique Empress, the "Semiramis of the North," was revealed to the eyes of living men. The embalming had evidently been carried out by one who was anything but a master of the craft. Catherine's features no longer could be distinguished.

The burial dress of the Empress as revealed is made of heavy, light blue damask. Her feet are covered with white silk morning slippers which appeared to be new and fresh. These slippers have red flaps. The stockings are of rose colored silk, though little is left of them.

A broad ribbon of blue silk crosses her breast. This ribbon bears an order, a star, covered with rubies, emeralds and diamonds, set in the form of Catherine's initials. In addition to this decoration the ribbon carries a cross of gold set with rubies and sapphires. Surmounting the high wig glistens a diadem studded with pearls and diamonds. Close beside the head of the dead Czarina there is an ancient holy picture with the features of the Savior—much obliterated.

After an inventory had been made of what had been discovered the sarcophagus was once more closed. The commission inquired by telephone as to what disposition was to be made of the gems and jewelry, and was told that these were to be left for the present where they had been found.

Remains of Peter the Great

A few days later the opening of the sarcophagus of Peter the Great took place. The gigantic figure of Peter had been preserved to a most remarkable degree. The expression of his face was marked by agony due perhaps to Peter's sufferings during his fatal illness.

Peter lay dressed in a dark green uniform with buttons of polished stone; his legs were encased in high boots of black leather. His breast was crossed diagonally by a broad, dark-blue sash and to this were attached two orders, a Russian and a Dutch. A great diamond blazed upon a finger of his right hand, and a plain golden cross and a crucifix of ivory hung about his neck. A roll of canvass lay beside him. Upon examination this proved to be an oil painting representing Peter working as a shipwright in a shipbuilding yard in Holland.

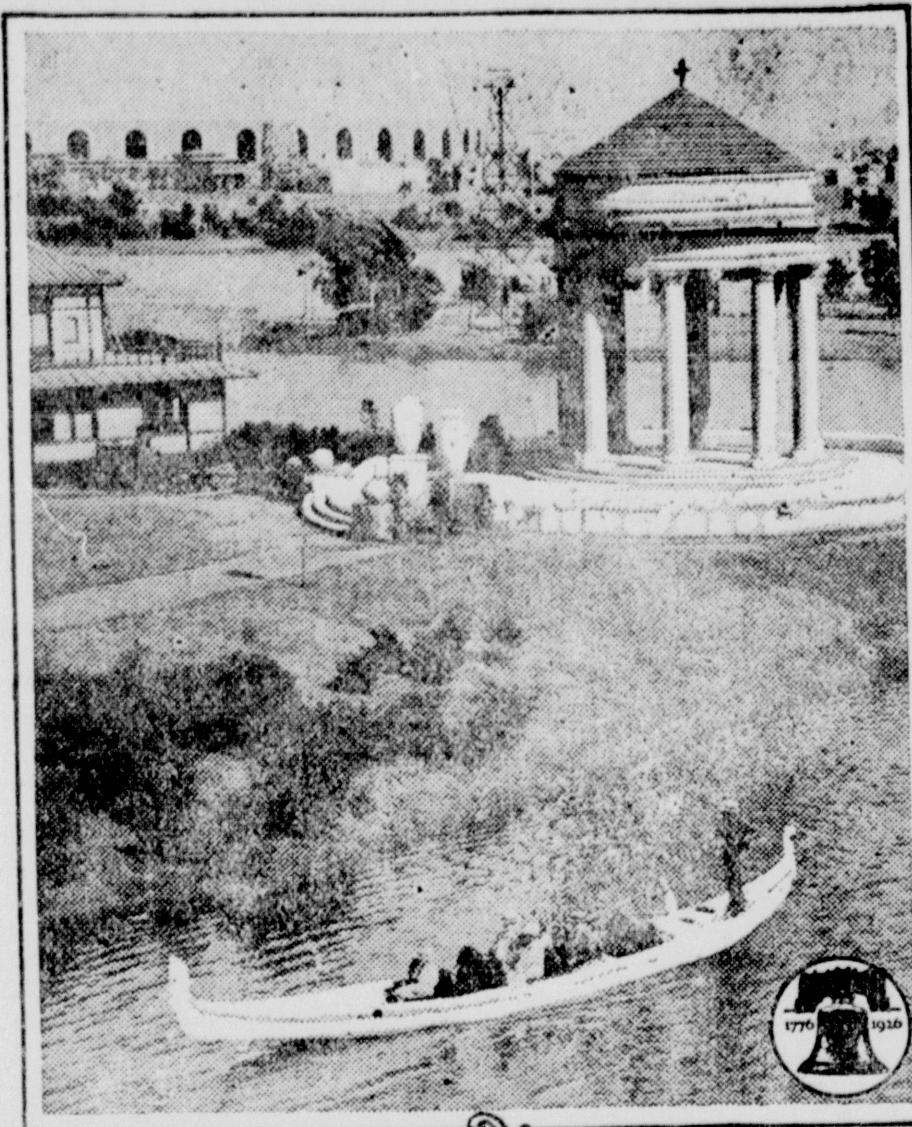

Several other graves and tombs in the fortress chapel were opened by the commission, until Dumaschanski, the Soviet commissioner of art and education, issued an order that these historic dead were no longer to be disturbed, whereupon peace, silence and darkness once more descended upon the lone and august assembly in the gloomy crept of the church.

ON THE SESQUI LAGOONS

Here are Americans, visitors to the Sesqui-Centennial international Exposition in Philadelphia which celebrates the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, riding about the lagoons in an Italian craft, a gondola, from which they view the buildings and displays from many lands. In the distance can be seen the mammoth Sesqui Stadium; to the right is the signal tower of the United States Coast Guard building and exhibit, and to the left is one of the Japanese pagodas which dot the exposition grounds. The Grecian pavilion is one of the permanent structures on the site before the city government decided to build the Sesqui at the front door of the great Philadelphia Navy Yard. The Exposition continues until December 1.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS' CONFERENCE HELD AT A & M COLLEGE AUGUST 2-3

Mrs. Kathryn K. Robbins, County Superintendent, has returned from A. & M. College where she spent the week studying problems affecting the rural schools and where she had an opportunity of meeting and exchanging ideas with some of the most progressive school men and women in the rural educational field. There were about sixty county superintendents present and all were greatly benefited by the addresses delivered throughout the week.

Dr. Norman Frost of Peabody Teachers' College was the outstanding speaker at the conference and talked each morning to the group on "Community Work," "The Annual Plan," "School Publicity," "Instruction and Improvement of Instruction" as well as other topics of vital interest to the assembly.

Dean E. E. Davis of Arlington and Prof. R. M. Woods of Huntsville each had a message that meant much to those fortunate enough to hear them.

The Joint meetings with the Press superintendent that the writers of the state are ready to co-ordinate their efforts with those of educational leaders that the schools of Texas may move on to first rank where they should be.

Round table discussions were especially helpful and disclosed the superintendents who have been in fact the Texas has some county office long enough to put over some real constructive school work.

It is especially fortunate that the County Superintendents can be in attendance during the week that the Farmers Short Course is in session for the work of county superintendents, county agents, home demonstration agents, must all go hand in hand if the most is to be accomplished in the highest development of rural life in this great State.

The following Resolutions were adopted at County Superintendents' Conference:

We the County Superintendents of Schools of Texas in annual meeting assembled at College Station, Texas, August 2-6, 1926:

1. Respectfully urge that the State Teachers' Association immediately use every influence available to secure the incorporation of a strong educational plank in the platform of the State Democratic Party at its meeting in San Antonio on September 7th. Such plank to demand that the party pledge itself to stop doing patchwork and instead effect a complete reorganization of our rural school system, such reorganization to provide for a county system of schools as recommended by the Texas Education Commission and the Legislative Committee of the Education Survey Commission.

This meeting believes that the sure road toward the realization of this or any educational program is through the securing of the adoption of such plank by the State Democratic Party.

2. We endorse the program of the Texas Education Commission and that outlined by the Legislative Committee of the Educational Survey Commission and we urgently request the 40th Legislature to enact such laws as are needed to carry out these recommendations.

3. We as representatives of the 700,000 rural school children of Texas respectfully urge and petition the Governor of our great and wealthy state, to submit to the called session of the Legislature the question of an appropriation for schools to increase the per capita from $12 to $15 so that the relief which is so necessary may come for the session 1926-1927.

4. Resolved, that the present law governing Teachers' Institutes be repealed and in lieu of the Institute that a law be passed by the 40th Legislature requiring Teachers' contracts to contain a provision that the teacher is under obligation to attend county faculty meetings of not more than five days during each year. Said meetings to be held at the discretion of the county superintendent and in such manner as to serve the best interests of the county.

5. We favor the appointment of rural supervisors to assist in the supervision of rural school work.

6. That we urge each school official in Texas and others interested in the school activities of our state to the State Teachers' Association and National Education Association.

7. We wish to express our thanks to the officials of the A. & M. College for their courtesy during our stay here and we are especially grateful to Professor W. L. Hughes and Dr. Norman Frost for their leadership and assistance. We recommend that these conferences be held each year and we urge each county superintendent in Texas to attend, as we believe that the rural schools will profit by the attendance of County Superintendents.

8. That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to each County Superintendent and ex-officio Superintendent in Texas with the request that he have same published in the papers of his county and being further requested that these resolutions be submitted to local school trustees and County Boards of Trustees for their action thereupon.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was this Cameron Woman Who Tells Her Experience

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Cameron case is one of many:

Mrs. H. D. Reynolds, 104 North Crockett Ave., says: "My kidneys were sluggish and I had a constant, bearing down pain through the small of my back. I also had a lameness and soreness in my back and I felt worn out and run down. I was troubled with dizzy spells when little black spots darted before my eyes. After using Doan's Pills from the Jackson & Read Pharmacy, kidney trouble left me."

WHY GOVERNMENT PRICE FIXING WON'T WORK

One of the most persistent fallacies is government price-fixing on competitive commodities. There is already government price-fixing in commodities and services where competition plays no part in price determination. These are railway transportation, electricity, gas, telephone and telegraph, and so on. Here government price-fixing is solely to protect the consumer. There are two fatal objections to government price-fixing for agricultural products, which represent the most competitive business in the world. These are, first, that it will not work; second, that it is always done for the consumer as against the producer.

Government price-fixing for agricultural products would work if at the same time the government regulated wages, profits, middlemen's margins, the production of all commodities and the rationing of all consumers. In short, if the population were enlisted in one vast army, directed and rationed, price-fixing would work, but otherwise not. If the price is fixed on the wheat the farmer sells, then he cannot keep on producing wheat if wages or the cost of harvesting machinery rise, or if the cost of other material he buys rises. So the next step would be the fixation of other prices, and yet other prices.

The United States government fixed the price of wheat but once in our history, and then it was to benefit consumers, not producers. The government might, in an emergency, fix some agricultural prices for the purpose of elevating such prices. Such action would inevitably and speedily lead to outcry from city consumers and a consequent reversal of policy. Indeed, the consumers, not the producers, are most likely to demand and secure food price regulation by government authorities. The farmer, therefore, who favors any form of governmental price-fixing is working against his own interests. He is putting his head into a noose.—James E. Boyle, Professor of Rural Economics, Cornell University, in the Banker-Farmer.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On Fifteen Per Cent Bonds

Mrs. Norris beamed as she greeted Aunt Emmy and exclaimed, "Now I know all my financial worries are over! I wanted to tell you right away."

"What have you bought this time?" Aunt Emmy demanded suspiciously.

"Well, I haven't paid the money over yet, but I have found the loveliest investment where my money will be perfectly safe and will earn a nice income for me right away," Mrs. Norris said. "I'm going to buy bonds, good safe bonds, that will pay me fifteen per cent interest."

"Wait a minute, you'll have to go some, Maud Norris, to tell me about 'good safe bonds' that pay fifteen per cent!" Aunt Emmy broke in.

"They are safe,—the man said so and this booklet says so too!"

"Do you know what a bond is?" asked Aunt Emmy.

"No, but it's awfully safe. I'm sure of that," Mrs. Norris said. "Everybody knows that bonds are safe."

"My dear, some bonds are safe and some are not. When you buy a bond you simply lend your money to the company putting out the bonds. Bond issues are secured generally by the company mortgaging or pledging some of its property. In other words, it offers a certain asset as security that it will return your money to you on the date the bond matures. It agrees to pay you a certain sum each year for the use of your money, usually something between five and eight per cent. No company can afford to pay too much for its money—and as to fifteen per cent bonds—why it would be very unusual for a company to be able to earn enough to enable it to pay fifteen per cent for the privilege of using other people's money,—moreover, if it is good enough to borrow money at all it can borrow it more cheaply than that!"

"Oh dear!" wailed Mrs. Norris, "then a bond isn't a good safe investment!"

"Don't jump at conclusions so fast!" said Aunt Emmy. "I did not say that. A bond is as safe as a church if the company that issues it is financially sound, has a high credit rating and is making money. Before you buy bonds assure yourself that the company behind them is above reproach."

"But the man who told me about these fifteen per cent bonds was so earnest—I felt sure I could believe him."

"Don't turn over any money to him until you have some advice on the bonds from your bank," admonished Aunt Emmy. "Then, if you find out that the bonds are questionable you will escape another bad investment."

Mason County, Michigan, bankers are pushing hard to replace scrub stock with pure-bred cattle. The plan as outlined by the county agent is to purchase young pure-bred sires and place them wherever a farmer is found who is willing to co-operate in the proposition. The bankers will advance the purchase price and take a note for one year without interest. The idea is to make it as easy as possible for the farmers to procure thoroughbreds.

If Kidneys and Bladder Bother

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast; continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is especially for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, efficient litina water drink, which often quickly relieves bladder irritation.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?

So Was this Cameron Woman Who Tells Her Experience

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Cameron case is one of many:

Mrs. H. D. Reynolds, 104 North Crockett Ave., says: "My kidneys were sluggish and I had a constant, bearing down pain through the small of my back. I also had a lameness and soreness in my back and I felt worn out and run down. I was troubled with dizzy spells when little black spots darted before my eyes. After using Doan's Pills from the Jackson & Reed Pharmacy, kidney trouble left me."

BAPTIST SCHOOLS ARE A GREAT DENOMINATIONAL ASSET

While Baptists are among the earliest contenders for public free schools for the education of the masses, they have always felt the need for distinctive religious schools as well to furnish a character of instruction which state schools cannot give. Consequently, for many, many years American Baptists in general and Southern Baptists too have had their own distinctive schools for the purpose of giving religious instruction along with general cultural courses. These schools are particularly desirable when it comes to the training of men and women for special denominational service.

Under the system of Southern Baptist schools today there are included two Southwide seminaries, two south-wide missionary training schools for women, the Baptist Bible Institute which trains practical workers, both men and women, for every department of Christian service, along with thirty-two senior colleges, a number of Junior colleges and a still larger number of academies and high schools.

Indicative of the contribution these schools are making to the denomination in trained workers, it is pointed out that at the 16,090 men in our Baptist schools today 3,110 are preachers, or one preacher out of every five male students. Out of a total of over 38,000 young men and women in these schools, 5,316 are preparing for some definite form of Christian service which shows that there is one young Christian worker out of every seven students.
